Apologies: Maura McGregor, GHA; Debbie McGowan, Voluntary Sector Network; Simon Bilcock and Fiona McLeish, Glasgow Life; Bailie Elaine Ballantyne, Councillor James Coleman, Councillor Philip Charles and Bailie Marie Garrity, Glasgow City Council, Jenny Crowe, Platform; Paul Tyrell, Scottish Fire and Rescue; Derek Speirs, Glasgow City Council.

1. Welcome and introductions

Bailie Christie welcomed everyone to the meeting and asked those present to introduce themselves.

2. Minutes of previous meeting

The minutes of the previous meeting on 4 October 2018 were agreed as an accurate record.

3. Thriving Places Action Plan

The action plan that was previously distributed was discussed and updates provided in relation to

- The Springboig and Barlanark page on the CPP website was now live

The workplan contained an update on community engagement activity undertaken at the re-launch of the Barlanark Community Centre which was discussed in more detail under the next agenda item. It was agreed that as there were a relatively low number of responses, the Engagement Sub-group consults further on the issues identified prior to the Steering Group agreeing what action should be taken to address the issues.

4. Community Engagement Sub Group

Two papers were distributed detailing progress made by the Sub-group since the last meeting of the Steering Group. Promotional materials had been purchased for use at the re-opening of Barlanark Community Centre. Feedback was provided on the methods used to engage local people and the responses received. Key findings had been grouped under the following headings: Environment, Transport, Safety, Facilities and Social. An information stall was available and local people had been given the Locality Plan. It was agreed that the comic strip had proved a good method to explain Thriving Places. The steering group agreed that a Facebook page should be set up as more local residents may use this rather than twitter. Snapchat filters were also suggested and Jane agreed to investigate this for the Winterfest event. It was agreed that permanent promotional materials would not be produced until the community connector was in post to allow contact details to be included. Eddie mentioned an early years consultation that took place in Wellhouse, Ruth to share the results of this with the group.

It was suggested that the Thriving Place needed a catch phrase that could be used on the promotional materials and also that the name was territorial and should be changed to drop the geographical title. Suggestions made at the meeting were

- East End Best End; and
- Far East Far Ahead

Other suggestions would be sought and discussed at the next meeting.

Posters advertising Winterfest were available at the meeting and Jane provided an overview on the activity planned by the students. Bailie Christie expressed concern that the time of the event was 3-6pm which did not allow families to attend and requested next year that the Budhill event take place at the weekend and last for the same length of time as the other 2 events.

Joyce advised that she would also be attending Winterfest to support the students and a request was made for other partners attend too. Martin confirmed that CSG would be in attendance. It was agreed to have printed copies of the comic strip to distribute to local people to assist explain Thriving Places. Jane to organise the leaflets. The steering group agreed to meet the printing costs, Jane to provide cost details to Kirsteen. Ruth queried if the promotional material was ambitious enough and should it allude to partners working better together and co-production. The steering group view was that at the moment, the material was pitched appropriately.

It was also suggested that the leaflet could be sent out via school bag drops which would reach local parents. The Steering Group was also advised that Easterhouse Thriving Place had agreed to produce a local newsletter, this being led by Platform. A request was made to join in with this however the Steering Group view was that the 2 Thriving Places needed to retain their own identities and that this could be discussed further at some point in the future.

5. Dynamic Purchasing System

Lesley McKeever provided an overview of the Dynamic Purchasing System being operated by DWP explaining that DWP had changed the way training was bought in for clients. The new approach was to work with work coaches on the ground and identify barriers facing clients. A business case is then pulled together to build up suppliers to deliver bespoke training meeting the more complex needs that clients are now facing. Information was sought from partners on local organisations and groups that are delivering these services, which could then result in them being on the supplier list to deliver training as required and receive funding for this. Support was available to organisations applying. Lesley agreed to provide a summary to Kirsteen which could then be circulated to Steering Group members and local networks including sharing with Easterhouse Thriving Place.

6. STEM Community Benefits in Glasgow's Thriving Places

The Steering Group heard first from Fiona and Sally from Glasgow Science Centre on how they were looking to expand on the community work around the STEM agenda and how they would like to contribute to events such as Winterfest. They would also like to encourage people to make more use of their building however were also happy to hold sessions in local venues. They agreed to make contact with Glasgow Kelvin College to talk to the HNC students.

Geraldine Angus from SWECO (Swedish Company) then advised that they had targets to meet regarding community benefits attached to council contracts that they had won. She advised that engineers undertook talks in various community settings to attract children and young people into engineering. The one target that had not yet been met was business mentoring and asked if any partners had knowledge of any local organisation that would benefit from this. Eddie advised that there were potentially several local businesses, Geraldine to leave contact details with Eddie. Geraldine was requested to provide a summary to Kirsteen which could then be circulated and it was also suggested that she make contact with the College's Director of Curriculum.

7. Thriving Places Anchor Organisation Update

Craig advised that the Community Connector job description had been circulated previously and had been agreed by the funders (GCC and Health). The Partnership Agreement had also been agreed in principle. As health had agreed 2 years funding, the post would be fixed term until March 2020. Easterhouse TP had agreed to wait until January to advertise the post and as both posts would be advertised together, Craig sought agreement from the Steering Group to wait until January. After discussion, it was agreed to advertise the post as soon as possible but with a longer closing date than usual which would bring it in line with the Easterhouse TP decision. Craig would liaise with Easterhouse TP Steering group on this.

8. AOB

Martin advised that Community Safety Glasgow would transfer back to Glasgow City Council in February 2019 under the Department of Neighbourhood and Sustainability. He envisaged that the role would be the conduit between the community and service departments resulting on 1 officer representing the department.

Ruth asked what the standard membership of the Steering Groups was as there were no representatives from Education or Social Work. Discussion included the need for more local involvement and the best people to have on board were those who had a responsibility to engage with local people ie teachers who have the responsibility to engage with parents. It was agreed to invite Education and Social Work to join the Steering Group.

Frequency of meetings was discussed and it was agreed to discuss this at the next meeting. Craig also requested that the agenda and papers be circulated via the generic email address.

9. Date of next meeting

The next meeting is on Thursday, 17 January 2018 at 2pm. A call would be made to Steering Group members to host the next meeting.

- Support local people to become more involved in community life in Springboig/Barlanark through a variety of means so that residents are represented and working alongside services in delivering the plan

Springboig and Barlanark Thriving Place Community Engagement Sub-group

Report on the engagement activities at Winterfest Thursday 13th December 2018 in Budhill Square from 3pm till 6pm

The following engagement activities took place on the day with aims to promote the Thriving Place, to find out what people think about the area, to recognise and build upon the existing knowledge and experience held within the community.

The consultation was carried out by Glasgow Kelvin College Staff, Springboig/Barlanark Thriving Places Sub Group and the students from the HNC Working with Communities who wore the Thriving Places hoodies to promote Thriving Places and raise the profile of the initiative.

There were flyers available to give an explanation of Thriving Places, including contact details.

What is Thriving Places?
Thriving Places, a Glasgow Community Planning Partner initiative, is about bringing people together to help improve a local area. This means building stronger links between different community groups, services and organisations.

Thriving Places aims to:

- Empower local people to have a real say in decisions that affect the local area,
- Support local community groups, organisations and services to really engage with local people, and
- Bring together community groups, services and organisations to improve the quality of people's lives in the local area.

Who is involved?
People who live in a Thriving Place area have a right to be involved and local services have a duty to improve the quality of life in the area.

How Does Thriving Places Work?
A Community Connector is employed to bring local community groups, services and organisations closer together, encouraging local people to get involved in 'Peoples' Panels' which will work with the Thriving Places Steering Group in bringing the Locality Plan for the area to life.

As part of the College's Empowered to Take Action programme, which encourages innovative teaching practice, the students were given a budget of £400 to provide activities at Springboig/Barlanark Winterfest to encourage engagement with the local community.

The students provided a variety of activities to engage with residents including:

- A free tombola with various prizes including £100 High Street Voucher, 2 £50 High Street Vouchers. Students, recognising that the area is one of high deprivation, selected High street Vouchers as they can be used in a variety of shops, including food stores.
- The second activity was Pop a Tree which encouraged children to pop one of the cups on a tree to receive a prize. While the children were occupied, students engaged parents/guardians in the consultation.
- Students gave out a variety of sweets/chocolates

The following questions were asked:

- What do you see as being the best things about the local area the partners should be making sure we protect or develop? (Of these, which is the most important?)
- What improvements for the area should the Thriving Places partners be focussing on most?
- Would you like to be involved in developing the local plan so we get it right for you and other local people?
- Would you be interested in volunteering to help with local activities?
- Any other comments?

A total of 50 consultations were completed. Respondents have been informed that we will be in touch after the festivities.

The results are below:

In general people felt positively about their area, with only 2 people having nothing positive to say. Over 40% of respondents felt there was a good community spirit and that the people were the main asset of the area. People felt that local amenities were good, with over 22% of respondents mentioning the shops and transport links.

People did recognise the need focus on specific areas to improve their local community. 54% of people consulted felt that there were insufficient community activities, particularly for young people. 5 people requested more events like Winterfest and community gala days.

Environmental issues were highlighted, including roads and pavements. 13 respondents felt that the park in particular should be cleaned and facilities improved. Littering, graffiti and dog fouling were also mentioned as problem areas.

The vast majority of respondents (88%) stated that they would like to be involved in developing the local plan and 3 respondents stated they would be interested in volunteering in their local community.
